Cultivating Leaders to Grow Young Readers Fall Kickoff

September 26th & 27th, 2017

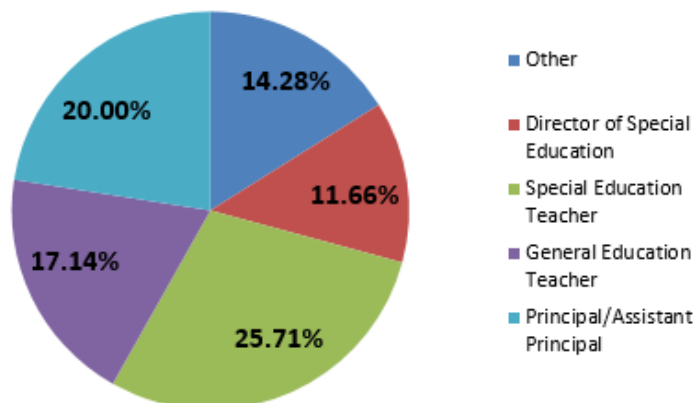

This was the first event in the second year of the Cultivating Leaders to Grow Young Readers Project. The purpose of this training was to bring the year one implementation cohort together with the newly formed readiness cohort to increase their collective knowledge of teaching reading. Project partners from the National Center for Improving Literacy presented one day of information from an Institute of Educational Sciences Practice Guide and facilitated an additional day of team planning.

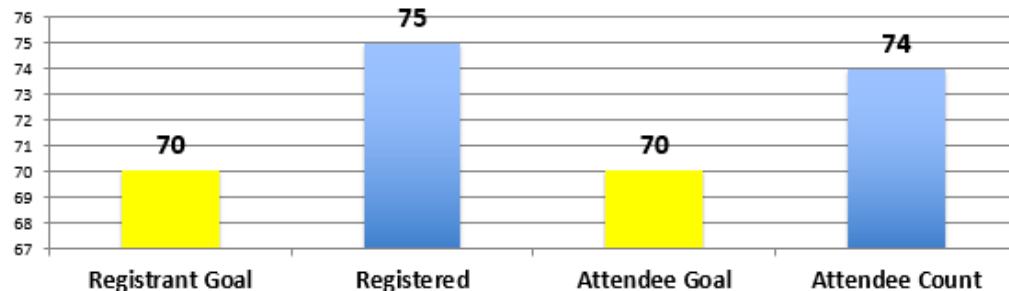

Overall, how satisfied were you with the training?

Select the primary position you represent in attending the training.

Registrant/Attendance Goals and Actual

What I liked the most was...

"The explanation of the purpose of training and how to connect with the SSIP"

"That the trainings reinforced and helps me improve what I am already doing"

"The time for team work "

"All of it/very helpful "

What could be improved is...

"Training needs to be more interactive and less sit time"

"Need more team time and activities during Day 1"

"Need more hands-on videos"

"Demonstrate website."
